

GROVER NOW HOLDS
THE TARIFF BILLSENT UP BY CONGRESS THIS AFTERNOON.

Vice President Stevenson Signed the Measure Shortly After 12 O'Clock and It Was at Once Taken to the White House—Veto Is Hardly Expected.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The new tariff bill was signed by Vice President Stevenson shortly after noon, and then was sent to the White House for the president's signature. It is not believed he will sign to-day, if at all. It seems to be generally understood President Cleveland will permit the tariff bill to become a law without his signature. On the other hand, a member of the ways and means committee who is unwilling to give his name for publication, said yesterday: "I believe the President will veto the bill. I have no means of knowing what he will do, of course, and only judge from my knowledge of the man. In view of the fact that the President did not really agree to the surrender, and in view of his letter and his known independence of purpose, I shall be very much surprised if he does not return the senate bill with a strong veto message."

LITTLE HOPE FOR THE BILLS.

The Senate in No Humor to Resume Tariff Legislation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Congressional speculation has now turned upon the probable course of the senate with reference to the supplemental tariff bills. The advocates on the democratic side of the senate chamber of a duty on coal, iron ore and barbed wire are of the opinion the bills would be voted down, and thus the agitation, which they foresee will not cease until the question is passed upon, would be brought to a speedy end. The sugar men, friends of both the refiners and planters, are quite as desirous for opposite reasons that the bill putting sugar on the free list should not be considered during the present session. The republican steering committee at its meeting yesterday discussed these questions, and while there was found to be a division of sentiment the majority favored the postponement of consideration of all these separate bills and especially the free sugar bill. If, however, they should be forced to meet the issue they probably would divide on it. They prefer as a party, however, there should be a test on the question of the sugar duty as provided in the senate bill just agreed to by the house.

It is not thought possible to pass the free coal, iron ore, and barbed wire bills in the senate. As to the free sugar bill there is little doubt that in case a direct vote could be had it would be passed. If it should fail of being referred to the finance committee the republicans would offer a bounty amendment to it which would carry if Mr. Stewart's vote could be had, but would be defeated by a tie vote if the Nevada populist refused to vote. It is said by those who are in a position to know the free sugar bill would be debated in the senate at such length that it would go over until the next session. It is believed that the quorum of the senate will melt away within a short time and that no important action can be taken in that body.

Sundry Civil Bill Settlements.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The conference committee of the two houses concluded the consideration of the sundry civil appropriation bill late yesterday and will report an agreement to-day. The house will accept the amendment for land surveys in the states of Washington, Idaho, Montana, South Dakota and Wyoming, and in regard to soldiers' additional homesteads. The amendment containing the donation of 1,000,000 acres of land to various arid land states for the encouragement of irrigation remains in the bill, but in amended form.

Claim Against the Stanford Estate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—There is reason to believe the government's claim against the estate of ex-Senator Leland Stanford will be tested in the courts before there has been any actual default in the payments. A suit now also would determine the status of the government claim against C. P. Huntington and others, and on the whole an early settlement of the claims would be in the interest of all concerned.

Gresham and the Chinese Minister.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The Chinese minister had a long conference at the senate department yesterday with Secretary Gresham respecting the concluding phases of the negotiations upon the new Chinese exclusion treaty just ratified by the senate. As soon as the treaty is ratified in China the documents will be mailed to the United States and ratification will be exchanged in Washington, all of which is expected to consume about six weeks.

CROPS BURNING UP.

General Drouth Conditions Prevail in the West.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—The reports as to the condition of crops throughout the country, and the general influence of weather on growth, cultivation, and harvest, was yesterday made by the directors of the different state weather services of the United States weather bureau. The reports of the following states were received by telegraph at Chicago:

Illinois—Temperature and sunshine above normal, rainfall below and badly distributed. The drouth continues in southern portion. Corn prospect, except in southern portion, shows slight improvement. Fall plowing retarded; stock water scarce and wells failing.

Indiana—A few showers Friday and Saturday were beneficial in some localities; corn in low grounds still promises well, that on high ground is beyond recovery.

Wisconsin—Showers were general through the central and southern sections Friday and Saturday which helped corn and potatoes. Over the northern half of the state the drouth is unbroken except by an occasional shower in scattered sections. Threshing is in progress and good yield everywhere reported.

Iowa—Temperature and sunshine above normal; drouth broken in nearly all parts of state, materially helping grass, millet, late potatoes and a portion of corn, but larger part of corn is now beyond help.

Michigan—Temperature and sunshine above normal; rainfall below. Drouth continues in all sections, and unless copious rains come soon corn, potatoes, beans and buckwheat will be a failure. No fall seeding yet; ground too dry to plow.

State Convention of Miners.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 15.—In view of the fact that the northern, central and southern coal fields of Illinois are working on different scales of prices, far removed from each other, and such is conducive to discontent among miners, President Crawford of the state Miners' union has issued a call for a state convention of miners at Springfield Tuesday, Aug. 21, to consider the adjustment of the scale over the state, the establishment and maintenance of subdistrict organizations, and the propagation and maintenance of state organization.

Indiana Democrats Gathering.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 15.—The indications are that the democratic state convention will not compare favorably with the enthusiastic state gatherings of former years. At noon yesterday probably 200 of the 1,700 delegates had got here. There is a hitch in the financial situation, but bimetalism will probably be endorsed and a demand made for the restoration of silver to the place it occupied twenty-five years ago.

Mine Owners Form a Trust.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 15.—The Massillon coal mine operators took an important step at a meeting held here yesterday looking to the resumption of work at their mines. There are twenty-five mines in the Massillon district, and they employ when working full force about 4,000 men. It was decided to form a corporation with a capital of $1,000,000, to which all these mines will be transferred and by which they will be operated.

Silver the Great Issue.

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 15.—The democratic state convention met here at noon yesterday. Committees on permanent organization and platform were appointed, after which the convention took a recess. The free silver question is producing much bitterness in the convention, and if there is a split it will be on this issue. When the convention reassembled permanent organization was effected and several speeches were made counseling harmony.

Will Sue for Eight Millions.

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 15.—The attorney-general announces that he will soon institute a suit on behalf of the state against the general government for about $8,000,000. This includes interest and compound on a principal of about $30,000, which he claims was expended by the state early in the '60s in equipping troops.

Bluefields Is Retaken.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—The Times has the following dispatch from Port Limon, dated Aug. 12: "The British warship Mohawk has arrived here with Prince Clarence and 112 refugees aboard. Heavy Buying of Whisky.

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 15.—Orders are pouring in on the whisky trust to-day, the trade evidently being eager to take advantage of the increase made by the senate bill. There was a flood of orders yesterday in anticipation of the passage of the bill, and they are even more numerous to-day.

POLICE SEIZE LAND

ADOPT HEROIC MEASURES.

Unable to Secure Property For a Small Pox Barracks they Take forcible Possession—General News of Interest From the Northwest—Counterfeiter Caught at Galena.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 15.—Early yesterday morning a squad of police under the direction of the health department went to the northern portion of the city and seized an eighty-acre tract of land on which barracks for smallpox patients will be erected. The property which has been seized is owned by the Pfister estate. No one would give up property for the purpose and it had to be forcibly seized and a squad of police put on it to retain possession. The site chosen for the barracks is four miles from the center of the smallpox contagion. The fears of the health department that the mobs of last week would result in the spread of the disease are being realized, as twelve new cases were reported yesterday.

Objects to the G. A. R. Service.

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., Aug. 15.—At the funeral of Gottlieb Zurheide Rev. Woolbrecht officiated at the house and also at the grave, but at the conclusion of his services Commander Cumberlidge of the G. A. R. post, acting as Chaplain, performed the G. A. R. services in full. Rev. Woolbrecht retired when he commenced. The minister refused to allow the flag to be taken into church and this has caused much indignation.

BIG DEAL PROBABLY OFF.

Elgin People See Indications That the Watch Factory Will Not Be Sold. ELGIN, Ill., Aug. 15.—Elgin people believe the proposed sale of the watch factory for $7,000,000 to an English syndicate has been called off. The company has been adding to its list of 1,200 employees and this week all the machine rooms are at work in full force. There are other signs of an intention to keep the works under American management, and the expert alleged to have been sent from London to go over the books has not been seen around the big plant. New machinery in factory seems to indicate there is no intention to sell.

Conference of Bimetallists.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—A conference of those who believe "that no permanent improvement in the condition of the country can be hoped for as long as the present old standard policy is pursued and who favor the immediate restoration of the bimetallic standard in the United States with the free coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1," will be held here Aug. 16 "to take into consideration the situation of the country and to decide upon a policy to be pursued looking to the change in the monetary policy of the government necessary to restore prosperity."

McBride's Convention Small.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 15.—The outlook is that John McBride's labor convention which convenes in this city at 10 o'clock this morning will number only about 100 members. Mr. McBride has received letters indicating that the hard times will prevent many miners' organizations from sending delegates.

WHITE RIBBONS ARE ALL GONE

Great Strike at Pullman is at an End—Old Men Returning Fast.

PULLMAN, Ill., Aug. 15.—White ribbons have disappeared from Pullman and its vicinity. The big strike is now definitely over and all that remains to be done is to clean up the scraps. The landslide from the strikers' party that was started yesterday continued falling to-day and the big gate under the clock tower was thronged all day with ex-strikers who wanted to get back to work. The company is handling the men in a very diplomatic fashion. They are given to understand that if they want their jobs back they must stand in line and wait their turn. This they do very humbly. To-day at noon there were between sixteen and seventeen hundred men at active work in the shops, and this number is constantly increasing. If the company wanted to put on a force of 3,000 men to-morrow it would find no difficulty at all in doing so. The talk of eviction, which was given such wide publicity in the newspapers, had a stinging effect on the fellows out of work, and rather than face starvation in the open air the men gave up the fight and returned with a rush to the shops. It is generally understood that the company will take back all of its old men with the exception of about one hundred who were a little too active in the strike and especially in the denunciation of George M. Pullman and the methods of his company.

The policy is not to discriminate against men just because they were prominent in the strike. In fact, several of the men who were members of the committee have signed the roll and have been re-employed in their old places. There are, however, about one hundred who didn't care what they said about the company and even the honored president himself and these are marked men. They will never be given a job in a Pullman shop so long as the present regime lasts. These 100 men know exactly how they stand, and yet some of them have made application for their old jobs. Of course they have been refused and they will ultimately be forced to get out of Pullman. It will not be necessary for the company to take legal process to oust them. They will get out of their own accord.

There will, in all likelihood, be no evictions now in the town of Pullman. Mr. Wickes was very strong in his assertions about the necessity of eviction, until the strikers gave way, and immediately all that sort of talk was stopped and, indeed, a reverse line was opened up. Despite the fact that about eight hundred strange men are at work in the shops all the old hands, with the exceptions above noted, will be taken back. To do this it will be necessary to get rid of the new mechanics, and the company is an adept at that sort of thing. It will be a saving of time and money, any way, for the company to turn out the non-union men and take back the old hands.

IN THE SENATE.

House Bills Arrive in That Body Yesterday.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—There was but a scattering of senators present yesterday when the Vice-President called the senate to order. Senator Gorman was not in his seat, Senator Hill was present, but buried himself in a newspaper. During the reading of the journal Senator Mills asked unanimous consent that its further reading be dispensed with, but Senator Blanchard objected and the reading was resumed.

At 12:15 o'clock the reading of the journal was concluded, when a messenger from the house of representatives was announced and informed the senate that the house had passed the bills placing coal, iron ore, barbed wire and sugar on the free list, in which it asked the concurrence of the senate.

Senator Manderson objected to the second reading, and Senator Hill gave notice of amendments repealing all income taxes. The bills will come up to-morrow.

Senator Hale introduced a resolution for the printing of 5,000 copies of house bill No. 4,864, "known as the sugar tariff bill."

Senator Vest protested against the title, but Senator Hale replied that he simply referred to it by the name by which it would be known hereafter, but would not insist upon that title being printed on the bill.

Senator Vest questioned Senator Hale's right to say what would be the popular designation of the bill and declared it an outrage upon the senate. The resolution went over.

Bills were passed promoting Commodore Louis C. Sartori, retired, to rear admiral on the retired list, and authorizing soldiers' home managers to extend outdoor relief to veterans.

Resolutions for the investigation of the Dominion Coal company of Nova Scotia, and for the investigation of the recent elections in Alabama went over. Adjourned.

FOUR FREE LIST BILLS.

Articles Covered by the Measures as Passed by the House.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The four bills to place upon the free list all forms of sugar, of coal, of iron ore and of barbed wire fencing and rods used in its manufacture, which were passed by the house, are drawn to go into effect immediately upon their passage. The bill for free sugar provides:

That from and after the passage of this act the following articles, when imported into the United States, shall be admitted free of all import duties: All sugars, all tank bottoms, all sugar drainings and sugar sweepings, sirups of cane juice, melada, concentrated melada and concrete and concentrated molasses and molasses.

The bill to place upon the free list "bituminous coal, shale, slack and coke," with the same preliminary clause, covers "bituminous coal and shale and coal slack or culm and coke." That to place upon the free list all "ores of iron" applies to "iron ore, including manganiferous iron ore; also the dross or residuum from burnt pyrites and sulphur ore, and pyrites or sulphure of iron in its natural state." The bill to place upon the free list "barbed fencing wire and wire rods for the manufacture of the same," applied to "barbed fencing wire, wired rods of iron or steel when imported for the manufacture of barbed-wire fencing under such rules and regulations as the secretary of the treasury may prescribe."

VIEWED BY PULLMAN.

Thinks Attorney General Moloney Misapprehends the Facts.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—George M. Pullman arrived in this city last night and to-day, through his counsel, made the following statement in regard to the action brought by Attorney General Moloney of Illinois to annul the charter of the Pullman Palace Car company:

"The petition served upon me by the attorney general with notice that he would apply to the court for leave upon the facts therein set out to file information in a quo warranto proceeding charges the Pullman company with the usurpation of power in acquiring and holding a greater amount of real estate than is authorized to do, and with putting a part of it to certain uses unwarranted by its charter. I can not but think this charge is based upon a misapprehension both of the law and the facts."

Operators Make Concessions and Work Will Be Resumed at Once.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 15.—The greatest strike ever known in Alabama, in which 6,000 coal miners engaged, came to an end last night and work will be resumed at once. The strike began on April 14 and cost more than a dozen lives and thousands of dollars to the state and coal operators in protecting property. The Tennessee company made an offer of 3½ cents per ton for coal mining when foundry iron was $8.50 a ton and for every 50 cents advance in iron an advance of 2½ cents for mining coal is to be allowed. Other concessions were made by the company. The other coal companies will probably follow.

Held Up at Whiting.

HIS TROUBLES BORE HIM TO THE GRAVE

SUICIDE OF CHARLES HODSON A GENERAL SHOCK.

For Years His Ambition Had Been to Own the Best Mill in the State—Hindrances Brought on an Attack of Melancholy That Unsettled His Mind.

Cold in death and with his waxen face turned toward the early morning light Charles W. Hodson was found hanging in his barn at his Court street home this morning.

The shocking discovery was made by A. McAdams, a man who was employed by Mr. Hodson to care for his horses. When McAdams entered the barn at 6:45 o'clock this morning, he saw a man in the dim light, near the double doors which were closed. He saw that it was Mr. Hodson and was about to say "good morning" when the thought occurred to him that the man was not tall enough to be his employer. Then the truth flashed upon him and stepping forward he saw that the discovery had been made too late. Mr. Hodson was dead. Hastening out of the barn he called Alva Russell and they hastened down town to inform the authorities. On the way down Mr. Russell told Stokley Hutchinson and Henry Rogers who were loading the wagon in front of their paint shop. Both of them hastened to the scene and stepping into the barn, Mr. Hutchinson held the body up while Mr. Rogers cut the rope that had held him.

Suicide Deliberately Planned.

Mr. Hodson's suicide had been a deliberate one. When found his head hung on one side and his knees were but an inch or so from the floor, with his legs doubled up behind him and his toes on the floor. He had deliberately held his head against the rope and ended his existence by sheer exertion of will power. The hands were not even closed, and the features were not distorted, but his face was ghastly white. The instrument he had chosen to end his life was one of the ropes used to hitch a horse on the barn floor for grooming. The rope was of good length and hung from a floor beam above. Mr. Hodson had knotted it about his neck, crouched down, and held himself there until the tightening cord, for the rope was hardly larger than a string, had so weakened him that he could not have recovered himself had he so desired.

The blow was a terrible one upon the family. When the Russells were told what had occurred Miss Russell started toward the barn. She saw Miss Jennie Hodson also walking toward the barn and cried out:

"Oh, don't go in there!"

"What is the trouble? Is it father?"

"I am afraid it is," was the reply, "but there is your mother; you must help her."

Mrs. Hodson was half way to the barn when she realized what had occurred, and dropped to the ground in a faint.

Had Feared Such an End.

Both wife and daughter had feared such a tragedy and Mrs. Hodson arose early and searched some of the out-buildings herself. About midnight Mr. Hodson arose and said that he guessed he would go over to the mill. Miss Hodson dissuaded him and he finally returned to bed, but at 5 o'clock this morning he arose and dressed himself fully and left the house. He must have gone to the mill for the door was unlocked and safe opened. Mrs. Hodson became alarmed when he did not return and about 7 o'clock began hunting for him. She had visited the barn in the rear of H. Sloan's house, in which Mrs. Barnes' goods were stored and while she was searching there McAdams found the body on the other barn. The men who were first on the scene did not wish to cut the body down until the officers arrived but Miss Hodson, the dead man's daughter, requested it so the rope was severed and the body stretched upon the floor. In the mean time Sheriff Bear had been summoned by telephone and District Attorney Wheeler and Justice M. S. Prichard were also notified.

Coroner's Inquest at 10 O'clock.

Justice Prichard caused a coroner's jury to be summoned, consisting of C. E. Brown, H. Proctor, E. T. Newhall, S. C. Burnham, C. E. Jenkins and S. Slawson who viewed the remains and adjourned until 10 o'clock at Justice Prichard's office.

"Suicide by hanging" was the verdict that the coroner's jury returned. Arthur McAdams was the first witness and he swore that he had worked for Mr. Hodson for three years. He last saw his employer yesterday afternoon at about 3 o'clock. He went to the barn about 7 o'clock this morning and saw Mr. Hodson in the barn and was surprised to see him there so early. When he saw that Mr. Hodson was not standing up he suspected that he was hanging because he was at the place where the horses were hitched to be groomed. McAdams thought Mr. Hodson might be alive but concluded that he was dead and hurried out and notified Alva Russell. Henry Rogers and Stokley Hutchinson then came and at the request of Miss Hodson the rope was cut. Mr. Hodson hung with the toes on the floor and the knees bent, facing the front door. The rope was used to hitch a horse to the floor for grooming and was of small size. Mr. Hodson had looked as if he was terribly worried for about six weeks, ever since the new mill was started. He had heard Mr. Hodson speak of times being hard and the witness thought he was despondent as he would mutter instead of speaking clearly, as he did before the mill was changed.

Henry Rogers was the next witness. He said that he felt Mr. Hodson's wrist and saw that it was warm yet, and soon after they cut him down. His account of how the body hung and other details was the same as that of McAdams.

No further testimony was necessary. The jury returned a verdict that "the said C. W. Hodson came to his death by his own hand by means of hanging himself."

THE CAUSES OF THE RASH ACT.

Worry Over Business Troubles Said to be Responsible.

The causes that led up to the sad deed are said to be brooding over affairs of business. It had been Mr. Hodson's life ambition to own the "most complete flour mill in Wisconsin" and this season saw his ambition realized. The old mill was completely remodeled and rebuilt and a thoroughly modern structure replaced it. Mr. Hodson watched the work with a great deal of satisfaction and when it was completed he was highly elated. Then came a bitter disappointment. When the power was turned on some of the machinery refused to work properly. The bearings had been worn from running in the old mill which was badly out of level, and to make them work in the new building with everything mathematically correct, considerable adjustment would be required. Mr. Hodson brooded over the difficulty until he became much depressed. In addition he had bought a considerable quantity of wheat at sixty-five and seventy cents and the market declined until he stood to lose between eight thousand and ten thousand dollars. A difference of ten cents in the price of wheat affects the flour market less appreciably so Mr. Hodson planned to grind the grain as soon as possible and turn it into money.

Suffered Fits of Melancholy.

The unsatisfactory way in which the mill was working added to his mental depression, and he had severe fits of melancholy. He was simply able to breast the storm. In fact the losses were but a trifle as compared to his resources. But this he did not consider. He was a man of business and did things in a business way, therefore he could not bear to see the mill idle under these conditions and refused to be comforted. The remedying of the machinery was said to be simple, by experts. Such of the machines as had been running in the old mill had become worn in the journal bearings because the floor was not level. When the new mill was built and the floors were made level the machinery refused to run smoothly. The defect was being remedied as fast as possible and would have soon been overcome. Mr. Hodson, however, fretted about it to such an extent that it fairly became a mania with him, and terminated in an act so sad that a deep cloud of sorrow now hangs over the friends of himself and family.

MAN OF WONDERFUL WILL POWER.

Mr. Hodson Brought From England Many Valuable Personal Endowments.

Mr. Hodson was of sturdy, strong-willed English stock. He was the youngest son of William Hodson, and was born May 16, 1837, on the Isle of Ely, Cambridgeshire. He reached Janesville when but nine years old, the first sorrow that came to the family being the death of William, the second son, a few years later. Mr. Hodson helped his father for several years, and in 1864 engaged in the milling business on his own account. What has since been known as the Hodson mill had seen many owners previous to that time. A starch factory was erected on the site in 1847 by Ogilvie & De Roe. A precarious career lasting two years, brought matters to an unfortunate termination. Hamilton Richardson bought the property in 1849 and converted the starch factory into a flouring mill. William Truesdell, a lawyer, was associated with Mr. Richardson. At the end of the year a break in the upper dam in conjunction with a freshet carried away most of the entire establishment. In the spring of 1852 it was rebuilt, and enlarged to the size with which Janesville people have been so long familiar. Early in the fall of the same year it met with fresh disaster from floods, and was repaired in the spring only to be foreclosed on a mortgage, E. H. Bennett being the purchaser. Eastern parties then became interested for awhile, and in 1864 the property fell into the hands of Barnes & Hodson.

His Worrying Caused Alarm.

Mr. Hodson's marriage to Miss Mary Barnes, the daughter of his partner, occurred June 10, 1867. Three children blessed the union, Jennie S., Charles and George. His family life meant much to a man as quiet and undemonstrative as Mr. Hodson, and his home was a happy one.

To his business Mr. Hodson gave himself with unsparring energy. He was at the mill each day at 7 o'clock and visited it late at night. For years his promise to friends had been that some day he would show them a mill that would grind the best flour in the world. When difficulties came up in connection with the mill just finished they weighed upon him heavily. L. B. Carle, J. M. Bostwick, W. T. Vankirk and other business associates noticed it and urged him to go away for a rest. A week ago Dr. Henry Palmer warned the family that there was great danger of a collapse.

All last week Mr. Hodson's agitation was noticed. The mill machinery still refused to run smoothly and the first "run" of flour sent out was not wholly satisfactory. Saturday night Mr. Hodson dismissed every man employed in the mill, including the bookkeeper, and told one of his friends in a moment of exasperation that he should never turn another wheel. Trouble about the machinery seemed to be the last straw. The mill had cost $20,000 instead of $12,000 as was at first planned but it was one of the finest mills in the state and its cost was nothing that would cripple the owner.

"I have been through all of Mr. Hodson's papers this morning," said C. S. Jackson today. "He did not owe a dollar and had plenty of money at hand. Financially he was in splendid shape."

POSTMASTER RYAN MAKES REPLY

Footville Trouble Starts From a Disagreement As to a Section of the Law.

EDITOR GAZETTE: I wish to offer further explanation as to the Footville postoffice trouble. There has been some difference of opinion in regard to this construction of Sec. 366, Chapter 13, of the Postal Laws and Regulations, which read as follows:

"All franked matter may be forwarded like any other, but such matter when once delivered to the addressee can not be remailed unless properly franked again. A bulk package of franked articles may be sent to one addressee, who, on receiving and opening the package, may place addresses on the franked articles, and remail them for carriage and delivery to their respective addressees."

I claim under this law as above that after bulk packages have once gone through the mail and been delivered to the addressee, and he leaves them in other places, such as stores, hotels and depots, to be taken and carried away, and read by any one who wanted them, cannot be gathered up again, and still be entitled to free transportation through the mail, by any other person than the one originally receiving them in bulk. The person receiving them in bulk would undoubtedly have the right to re-mail them free without their being franked again.

A man named Shaw received a bulk package of such articles and carried them away from the office. He brought some of them back to the post office for mailing and they were received and promptly sent out. When others came in with some of the same matter I refused to mail them without their being stamped or else mailed by Shaw, the addressee, who received them in bulk. I am here to do my duty as postmaster, and will follow and be guided by the postal laws and regulations, until instructed differently by my superiors in office. All this hurrah is only in line with many other false and scandalous reports sent out broadcast through the country by the creatures who infest Footville. They jump at conclusions and fight like a pole cat.

TO TREAT EXCURSIONISTS WELL

People Who Go the Dells Should Mark Their Baskets.

The St. Paul railroad company are taking all the pains possible to care for the excursionists to the dells August 24. E. J. Samuels who will conduct the excursion in person has received this letter from the district passenger agent:

"We send you a good supply of special tags for lunch baskets and boxes to be used in the excursion to the Dells on August 24. There will be special baggage cars and men in charge to care for lunches. Have people place their names on their tags and fasten securely to basket or box. Upon arrival at Kilbourn these baskets and boxes will be taken to Cold Water canon by the Dells company, and on the return will be taken back and placed in baggage car. This will be a great relief to excursionists and I trust that it will be appreciated."

Yours truly, W. W. HKAFFORD."

RAILROAD BUSINESS IS BETTER.

Northwestern Yards Looked the Way They Used to Today.

Business in the Northwestern is picking up and now there are just two long streams of cars coming in and going out. The shipments are of a general nature and do not appear to be confined to any one commodity. Several trains were sent out yesterday that were composed of fifty and sixty cars and this morning Engineer A. L. Talmadge pulled out a string that was made up of fifty "loads" and "empties." The yard force are kept on the jump and it looked today like it did before everything went democratic.

OFFICER KRUSE GIVEN A BILLY.

Was Jackknifed From a Two-Fly-Four and Tied With Green Ribbon.

Officer Kruse was presented with a billy this morning that came by express. It was whittled from a piece of two-by-four, decorated with mosquito netting and had large bows of green ribbon tacked to the handle. It came by express collect and the big policeman is at a loss to know to whom he is indebted.

HAVE NO CROPS TO REPORT ABOUT

Small Comfort For Some of the Farmers North of Here.

The best watered portions of the state during the last week were Green, Portage and La Fayette counties, where many rains are reported. Except in the above counties the drouth is unbroken and crops are suffering severely. Corn in some counties will probably be a total failure, and the more hopeful correspondents do not expect more than one half an average crop.

Potatoes are past help, and the corn crop will be very light throughout the state, though in a few favored sections a fair crop will be secured.

Forest fires in Clark and Wood counties, marsh fires in Juneau and Monroe counties continue to do much damage. In the hay marshes, the fire burning to a great depth into the peat, and a considerable quantity of hay has been destroyed.

The correspondent in Wood county writes "Crops all destroyed by drouth, frost and fire, will make no more reports this year."

Tobacco is doing well in most sections.

Threshing is in progress and a good yield is reported in all sections, and much better than was expected.

The creamery men report that milk supply has fallen off about one half on account of the failure of pastures. Feeding of stock has become quite general.

SHOCK THRESHING IS ENDED.

Emerald Grove Farmers Forced to Buy Potatoes for Home Use.

EMERALD GROVE, August 14.—Shock threshing is done. It has been a long time since the weather was as favorable for such work. Two light showers fell last week, while doing little good it was thoroughly appreciated. Early Tuesday morning, August 14, fully one-half inch of rain fell quelling the dust in good shape. The potato crop is very light. Some farmers are buying potatoes for immediate use. Mrs. E. D. Chesebro who has been confined to her bed for the past week is greatly improved. Mrs. A. J. Robertson and family have returned to their home in Ravenswood. Bradford was well represented in the excursion to Devil's Lake last week. The Y. P. S. C. E. will give a social Friday evening of this week at the home of Mr. Butler, to which all are invited. County candidates are very numerous these days. It is only once in two years they appear, but we can't make them all happy. Rev. Mr. Camp, of Waukesha, exchanged pulpits with Rev. Hammond last Sunday. Mr. Hammond is expected home again this week. Do not forget Gillies & Jones' price on Mason fruit jars. 60 cents per dozen, quarts. Thomas Adams, who some fifteen years ago was well known in the village, called for a few hours last week. He is now located in Chicago. Miss Laverna Gillies entertained a small company of her friends in a most hospitable manner last Friday evening, the event being in honor of her guests, Misses Ina Gillies and Cora Pond of Evansville. Alderman E. N. Ransom was confined to the house after his trip to Devil's Lake.

NO DEVIL-CASTERS NEEDED.

Evansville Has No Wish To See Brother Welch—Poisoned by Salmon.

EVANSVILLE, Aug. 14.—Evangelist Cardner is holding tent meetings this week. These services are genuine christian revivals, and have no connection with the casting out of devils, for so much a cast. That kind of business may do for Janesville, where there is more money—possibly more devils—but we have no use for Brother Welch in Evansville. A. I. Taggart and wife, and a boarder, Dr. Fred Colony, ate canned salmon Saturday night and since that time have been seriously ill. It is thought they were poisoned by the salmon. Miss Joe Parmley and Elmer Libby were married last Sunday. The Evansville young people are marrying with pleasing rapidity this summer. The several camping parties that have spent a pleasant two weeks at Lake Kegonsa, have returned to home and its associations. "Hop" Doolittle and Charles Spencer are invoicing the Shively stock of clothing, the stock being sold to Thomas Steele a wide-awake young man who will do business at the old stand.

SORE ON CHADWICK BECAUSE HE WON

HARRY BROWN OUTPACED BY BOVEE K AT MILWAUKEE.

Therefore the Sentinel Charges Him With Fraud, But Wicked, Horrid, Mean, Cruel Judges Gave Him the Purse and Set the Poor, Innocent Milwaukee Horse Back.

ORELY indeed did the Milwaukee papers hate to see John C. Chadwick's good pacer Bovee K., win the 2:24 sidewheeler's purse at that town, just because he happened to beat H. J. Killilea's pacer, Harry Brown, from Milwaukee, the same as he did in Janesville once or twice. Bovee K. won in three through heats, cutting her record of 2:18, which he made here last June, to 2:15. The Sentinel says "the race was won by Bovee K., assisted by Kansas Jack, from Harry Brown, the Milwaukee pacer"; and continuing says:

"Harry Brown, Henry J. Killilea's fast gelding, was sent to win. Bovee K.'s and Kansas Jack's drivers worked together and as a result Harry Brown got third money. Bovee K. took the first heat with little trouble, but in the second Harry Brown made a hard struggle for first place. When within about twenty yards of the wire the driver of Bovee K. began to throw his whip—and such a whip was never seen on a race track—about promiscuously, and Harry Brown left his feet. Instead of punishing the driver of Bovee K., the judges put Harry Brown back to third place running. In the last heat Harry Brown was again making it warm for Bovee K. and Kansas Jack's driver came to the rescue with his whip, and Harry Brown left his feet again. This time the judges placed him second, set Kansas Jack back to third. The finish in the last race was a very pretty one and aroused considerable enthusiasm. Bovee K. got first money, Kansas Jack second, Harry Brown third and Robert Elanore fourth."

The time was 2:15, 2:17, and 2:20. Strange to say the judges were not Milwaukee men and therefore they cruelly refused to see Chadwick's lawlessness but punished poor innocent Harry Brown!

Maggie N. Got Second Place.

Mr. Chadwick also got second money in the 2:18 class trotting with Maggie N. by winning the first two heats in 2:17 and 2:16, reducing her record both times from 2:17. Jerry L. the Stonewall Jackson gelding who won the same race here last June won the last three heats the best time being 2:15.

Last July William Fitzgerald of Cresco, Iowa, won the Janesville purse for 2:19 pacers in three handy heats in 2:16, 2:16, 2:16. It was so easy for him that they said he could go much faster if he had too. These summaries were correct, for at Terre Haute, Ind., was in the 2:25 pacing class and forced the winner, the phenomenal Whirlwind to go in 2:10 which broke the record for three year olds to win.

John Kelly tried to win the 2:21 purse at Terre Haute, with Ella O., but a break lost him the heat and in the next one the mare wouldn't go and was distanced.

Possell, the brown Land Pilot gelding, who won the 2:24 class race here with speed to spare in 2:18 started in the 2:24 class at Grand Rapids and sold a hot favorite. In the first heat he lost by a bad break and was beaten by Rachael in each heat the best time being 2:20 or two seconds slower than Possell went here.

Milton Notes.

The annual normal institute of the Second superintendent district convened in college chapel Monday morning. About fifty are in attendance, and the number will probably be increased to seventy-five before the close. Professor J. A. James, of Mount Vernon, Iowa, Miss Charlotte E. Richmond, of Madison, and Principal J. B. Bordon, of Milton Junction, are in charge of the work. Dr. J. W. Stearns, of Madison, gave his lecture on "The Heart of London" Monday evening. District Attorney Wheeler and Theo W. Goldin, of Janesville, were in town Monday. Mr. Goldin is a candidate for clerk of the court and would like the Milton delegation.

His Explanation.

"Got any little job of work, ma'am," inquired the dusty pilgrim at the back door, "that I can do to earn a bite of grub?"

THE SUNFLOWER OF SIBERIA.

An Arctic Plant That Is Remarkable in More Ways Than One.

"One of the greatest curiosities I ever met with in my travels," said Professor Philip L. Newman of Cincinnati, "is the sunflower that blooms in the northern portion of Siberia, where the earth is continually covered with a coating of snow and frost. This wonderful plant shoots from the frozen soil on the first day of the year, and reaches the height of about three feet; it blooms on the third day, remains open twenty-four hours, and then returns to its original elements. It shines for a single day, then the stem, leaves, and flower are converted into snow. The leaves are three in number.

"The flower is star-shaped, its petals about as long as the leaves and about half an inch wide. The third day the extremities of the leaves show little glistening specks, like diamonds, about the size of the head of a pin. These are the seeds of this queer flower. I was told that on one occasion some of these seeds were gathered and hastily transported to St. Petersburg. They were there placed in a bed of snow, where they were kept until the first of the following year, when the sunflower burst forth and was greatly admired and wondered at by all who saw it."

FAR SEEING EGYPTIANS.

Why They Waved Wild Palm Branches Over Date Palm Flowers.

More than one thousand years ago Herodotus observed a remarkable custom in Egypt, says Professor Drummond. At a certain season of the year the Egyptians went into the desert, cut off branches from the wild palm and, bringing them back to their gardens, waved them over the flowers of the date palm. Why they performed this ceremony they did not know, but they knew that if they neglected it the date crop would be poor or wholly lost.

Herodotus offers the quaint explanation that along with these branches there came from the desert certain flies possessed of a "vivifying virtue," which somehow lent an exuberant fertility to the dates. But the true rationale to the incantation is now explained. Palm trees, like human beings, are male and female. The garden plants, the date bearers, were females, the desert plants were males and the waving of the branches over the females meant the transference of the fertilizing pollen from the one to the other.

Was a Granville Girl.

Mrs. Mary Hartwell Catherwood, whose romances of early French-Canadian life and French exploration in our own country have won an international reputation, is a western woman, whose home has always been in Ohio or Illinois. Like many other people whom the west delights to honor, she was born in Ohio, her parents having moved there from New England. They were of English stock and have always supposed that Sir John Hartwell, mentioned in Froissart's Chronicles, was a "forbear" of theirs.

Notwithstanding her English ancestry Mrs. Catherwood's face has a piquant expression which combined with her mastery of the French language and her taste for French history, gives many persons the impression that she is of French descent, while her charming simplicity of manner has sometimes given color to the further supposition that she received her education in a convent. On the contrary, she is a graduate of Granville Female college, in southeastern Ohio, and always refers to her alma mater with warm affection. But

MRS. MARY HARTWELL CATHERWOOD, genius would burn, even within the walls of a female college, and the author of "The Romance of Dollard" and "The Lady of Fort St. John's" tasted the sweets of literary success while a student at Granville.

PROF. VERNELLO, the clever magician who has been exhibiting for the past two days in the front window of Wheelock's crockery store on the bridge, has left some of his Hindoo handkerchief tricks with full directions on each package at 25 cents each, or will be given away with a purchase of $1.00 or more if asked for.

OVER three hundred people took advantage of the Trinity excursion last night and filled the Columbia and Enterprise to overflowing. The Bower City band accompanied the pleasure seekers and a stop was made at Crystal Springs long enough for dancing and the enjoyment of refreshments.

We always have enough customers to keep us busy inside our store. We never go out on the street and try to persuade people to buy from us. We all times meet and beat any price made by any competitor. Bort, Bailey & Co.

FRANK KIMBALL, the leading undertaker and furniture dealer in Janesville, received a lot of all kinds of center and tea tables the other day, which he is closing out cheap.

MANAGER C. J. MCGINLEY for the Athletics, gives notice that he will not be responsible for any bills on account of that organization except those of his own contracting.

MORE tea and center tables can be seen at Kimball's than at all the furniture stores in Janesville. He bought a concern's entire stock very cheap; selling the same way.

OUR "Pickwick opening" will be about September 1. During the month of September we want every hard-to-fit man in Rock county to visit our store and inspect our clothing, built for irregular shaped people. If you are tall or slender; if you are short and fat; if you are tall with long legs and arms; and have a waist so large it is hard to fit: if you measure from 44 to 58 breast measure. It matters not how you are built, we can fit you. Bet a new hat we can! Call for the Pickwick brand of clothing. T. J. Ziegler.

We are never extravagant in our promises; rather let our offerings speak for themselves. Nor do we deal in exaggerated figures. GOT HIS BOY BACK
ON A LEGAL WRITW. A. MILLER GIVEN HIS CHILD
BY JUSTICE PRICHARD.

Mother Had Deserted Her Husband, Left the Youngster With her Parents But Fought the Father's Efforts to Regain Control of the Child in Vain.

The childish prattle of a five year old boy broke into the solemnity of the Hodson inquest at Justice Prichard's office this morning.

Some years ago W. A. Miller and the daughter of Joseph Powers wedded. For a while all went well and the son whose shrill treble was heard during the inquest, was born. Later, storm clouds gathered on the domestic horizon and the wife abandoned her home and took the child to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Powers. The husband wanted the child and took legal steps to get him. The defense set up the plea that the father was not a proper person to have charge of the child but an answer was filed denying the charge and alleging that the wife was not qualified to care for it and the husband was. Thus it stood when the case came before Justice Prichard on a writ of habeas corpus this morning. He decided that the father should have the child and so ordered it. The parties were all in court this morning and just before the inquest was finished the happy father led the child out by the hand while the grand parents watched him with a disappointed eye. The lad was a bright little fellow and did not realize apparently the trouble of which he was the innocent cause.

HAD HER HUSBAND ARRESTED. Matilda Benwitz Says August Beat Her With a Slipper.

Mrs. Matilda Benwitz had her lawful wedded husband, August Benwitz, arrested this afternoon, she charging that he assaulted her when she had her babe in her arms and clubbed her over the head with a slipper until the neighbors came in and took the child from her and stopped the rumpus. Mr. Benwitz denied the charges in toto and it will rest that way until Tuesday morning when Judge Phelps will decide the case.

A Valuable Medicine. Jacob Ohlweiler, the tonsorial artist at No. 3 North Academy street, has a remedy for cholera morbus and cholera-infantum, that is without a doubt among the best ever given. Mr. Ohlweiler came into possession of the recipe in 1848. It was given to him by an old gentleman from Germany. In cholera times it was used to a great extent, and will ward off the dreaded disease, Asiatic cholera, when taken in time. It has been tried hundreds of times, and Mr. Ohlweiler has no hesitancy in stating that it will cure cholera morbus in thirty minutes. It can be had at his tonsorial parlors, which, by the way, are among the finest in the city, at No. 3 North Academy street.

JANESVILLE BOYS IN CAMP.

Many Compliments on the Excellent Showing of Company A On Parade.

CAMP DOUGLASS, August 15.—The second day at camp ended with a good day's work for Company A. The work during the day was composed mostly of battalion drill and sentinel work. The second battalion was on the range all day but the scoring was not as good as shown by the first.

The forest fires that were raging all around camp Monday evening were extinguished to a certain extent but last evening they started up in several other points with a heavy wind blowing in this direction and three companies have been sent out with shovels and axes to prevent it from entering camp.

Tuesday afternoon was one of the warmest that has ever been seen in camp by Co. A and several were overcome by the heat.

Co. A has sixty-two enrolled men in camp and there is only one other company that has more. The first regiment has more men by fifty out of eight companies than they had a year ago out of nine. Janesville boys received many compliments for the showing they made on dress parade last evening.

First Lieutenant Rooney has been acting as officer of the guard for the last twenty-four hours.

Mandolins, banjos, guitars, violins, etc., are very plentiful in Company A lines, and plenty of amusement of all kinds is on every hand.

All the boys that were somewhat under the weather during the first day are able to be on duty.

Musicians Peterson and Shurtleff are receiving many compliments for their work.

CRAZY JOHN KAY IN A CELL.

The Insane Farm Hand Taken to Mendota This Afternoon.

John Kay, the insane farm hand whom Chief Acheson caused Officer Kruse to arrest, was taken to Mendota by Sheriff Bear this morning, he having been found insane by a commissioner so appointed to examine him. Despite franchises in Janesville and four or five other Wisconsin cities the Wisconsin Automatic Telephone Co. doesn't seem to get ahead very fast.

The franchise of the company at Oshkosh was annulled by the council recently. Its representatives claim that the action was illegal, since they had fulfilled every condition and had put in twelve instruments. They will go on and install the exchange, to which they have 250 subscribers.

George H. Bates, who represents the company here, has about one hundred subscribers enrolled, but no immediate step to build a plant is probable.

WHEN MA WAS NEAR.

I didn't have one bit of fear
'Bout nothin' 'till when ma was near.
The clouds could bank up in the sky
Or 'fore the wind in white streaks fly,
But somehow 'nuther I didn't keer
A snap for them when ma was near.

Cobblins that sneak at night to skeer
Us little folks—when ma was near
Jes' fairly flew and wouldn't stay
Round there one bit, but runned away.
An didn't seem to be one bit queer—
They couldn't help it when ma was near.

It wasn't bad to be sick where
You felt the joy that ma was near.
The throbs o' pain couldn't stay much
Under the cooling of her touch,
But seemed to stand in mortal fear
Of everything when ma was near.

A SPECIAL CODE.

Experience, the shrewdest expounder of a principle, the most acute logician, the wisest of all councilors, is, some profound thinker took occasion to remark, like the red light at the rear end of a railway train—it illuminates only the path gone over. This may not be the exact wording, the fine shading of the profound thinker, but I care not so much for his wording as for his idea, not so much for his shading as for his truth. Swinging behind a train which at times rushes wild through my fancy there is a red light, and its dull rays fall upon a path gone over, one leading out from a newspaper. One morning it came out, broad in assertion, boastful in big type, declaring that it had come to stay, but ere the afternoon had come a man whose political pull had put him into the sheriff's office as a deputy stood at the entrance of the counting room—where nothing had been counted—tacking a card on the door, driving shingle nails into the sore breast of a once buoyant hope. Well, that was all there was to the paper, and it wasn't much, surely—an idle lesson learned at lazy noon—but what followed was an experience. I set out upon a stroll down through the cypress districts of west Tennessee. The weather was charming, a pink June, and the sun set that evening with a glow that promised romantic adventure. Rain was pouring down a week later, and romance was nowhere in sight. I went to a barn and lay in the fodder to wait for it. Lightning struck the barn, and I tumbled out, stunned, scared half to death, and took to my heels across a meadow.

Some one cried stop, and then a gun went off. I stopped, and a man ran up and arrested me. Lightning had set the barn on fire, and of course I was accused of it. I went with the man and stood near while he swore out a warrant for my arrest and then acknowledged that I was aware that I was in custody. By this time a number of furious citizens had arrived, and I began to fear lest they might not wait for the slow processes of the law. My experience with the daily newspaper had taught me something of legal procedure, and I asked the justice if I might have a change of venue.

"What's that?" he asked.
"Thank you for a change of venue," said I.

This set them all a-laughing. I had never asked for such a thing before and did not know the exact wording. I felt sure that I couldn't miss it if I were only polite. But I did miss it and they poked merciless jests at my ignorance. After awhile court was called to order, mirth was put aside, and I was told that the charge against me was exceedingly serious; that I must defend myself or spend much of my future time in prison. "I have but a very short defense," said I. "The truth is that I didn't set fire to the barn. I had no matches about me, and I was too wet when I went in there to set fire to anything. The things were set on fire by lightning."

"We grant all that, you honor," replied the man who had taken the prosecution of the case, "but what right had he in the barn? And besides let him prove that the lightning would have struck the barn if he hadn't been in there. To my certain knowledge, this barn has been standing for the last 20 years, and I can prove that it was never struck before. It is well known in science that certain people attract lightning, and the law plainly says that during showers these people should keep out of barns."

"Yes, sir," answered a lank man at the rear end of the room.
"You studied science for a number of years, didn't you?"

"I was professor of it for a long time, sir."

"Well, can you tell by examination whether or not a man is an attractor of lightning?"

"I ought to, sir, for I was examiner for this part of the state."

"Will you please step up and examine this man?"

"With pleasure, sir."

He examined my hair, rubbed my head and then shook his own. "I should say, sir, that this would be a mighty dangerous man to be near while lightning is flashing around."

"Then, sir, in view of the fact that this barn was never before struck by lightning, would you be willing to give it as your opinion that the prisoner was the cause of the—well, we'll say accident?"

"I certainly give that opinion, sir."

"Well, then, your honor," continued the prosecutor, "there is but little more to do. Of course this man cannot help his unfortunate attraction for lightning; but, then, neither can a mad dog help being mad. I will now leave him to you."

The justice sat gravely thinking. "I am very sorry," said he, "that such a case has been brought before me. I did not make the laws. I am simply a servant placed here to execute them. You appear to be a young man of promise, and this arraignment is exceedingly unfortunate. Have you anything to say?" I had a great deal to say. I told him that I had never heard of such a law; that I had been brought up almost under the shadow of the state house; that I had written up many a police court, and that I didn't believe I had more of an attraction for lightning than any one else.

He gravely shook his head. "You perhaps did not know," said he, "that what is law in this part of the state may not be law in other parts. This division of the state has a peculiar local right, ceded to it at the time of the Louisiana purchase." He had me there, and I could say nothing. "We got many of our ideas from the French, and while they may appear ridiculous to the more Anglo-Saxon parts of the great commonwealth we—but there is no use arguing with you. I may explain, however, that persons convicted under the scientific code are not sent to the regular state penitentiary, but to a prison down on Bayou Long. It is a rough place, and I regret to see you go there, but there is no need to express sympathy."

"Before direct sentence is passed," spoke up an old man who had hitherto said nothing, "let us see if there is not some way of saving this man. There is among the old statutes which we were permitted to take from the French a clause which says that when a man has been convicted under the scientific code he may be saved by some reputable young woman, who shall come forward and offer to marry him. Now, who knows of a woman who would be likely to marry this man?"

"We are obliged to you," declared the prosecuting attorney, springing to his feet. "We can save him. I know of a woman." He wrote a note and gave it to a boy. "Present this to Miss Lily Mayfield," he said.

Lily! That wasn't bad. Better to take a lily in all her glory than to toil in a prison, and so I waited. We had not long to wait. "Here she is," said the prosecuting attorney. And then there stepped into the room the most hideous creature I have ever seen. A nightmare put upon its feverish mottle to portray the horrible could not produce a more repulsive human being. I grabbed my hat and darted through the door. I did not look back when they yelled at me to stop, I did not look back until I had run more than a mile, but at every jump I could see that horrible woman's face.

A year later I was in Nashville. The legislature was in session. One evening in a street car I heard two country representatives talking. "Oh, yes," said one of them, "old Bob is full of revenge. You remember that a newspaper roasted him for something during the last session. Well, sir, I'll tell you what he did. The paper failed, you know, and one of the fellows that had been connected with it went out on a stroll, and he strolled down into old Bob's neighborhood. The fellow didn't know Bob, but Bob knew him and saw him passing by and put up a job on him. And luck came his way, for the fellow went into a barn, and just then the barn was struck by lightning. I forget how they worked it, but they arrested the fellow, who was considerable of a greenhorn, by the way, and carried him through some sort of a trial and pretended that they were going to make him marry a woman, but she wasn't a woman, but a man that had been fixed up for the occasion. Well, they say that fellow skipped through the door when he saw the thing that was to be his wife and ran a mile without looking back. Yes, old Bob is full of revenge."—Opie Read in Minneapolis Tribune.

An Accommodating Earthquake.

Earthquakes play queer pranks sometimes, and few on record are queerer than an incident of the trembler of 1868. The story is told by Colonel George W. Grammis, who vouches for its authenticity, as he witnessed the extraordinary incident with his own eyes and knows there was no deception. Colonel Grammis was agent of the Montgomery block at that time—an enviable position in more ways than one, because the building was the legal and business center of San Francisco. Here are the veteran colonel's own words:

"I was in my office," said he, "when the first shock came in the evening. That was the earthquake of 1868, the only tough shakeup we ever had in California. Well, I could hear the shouts of people outside and the noise of falling signs and chimneys, but knowing that General Halleck had constructed the building as he would a fortress, according to his ideas of civil engineering, I did not feel the least uneasy. The moment the shock had subsided I ran toward the back of the building to see that the walls were all right. I was on the second floor, and do you know, the back wall had sprung out and leaned over. I could see the sky between the wall and floors. This was a fearful state of affairs, so I went to engineers and architects. They said it was impossible to pry that thick wall back into place. There was no purchase to get a move on it. Well, I just began that evening to make arrangements to have the wall torn down at considerable expense. That night another shock came from east to west, and what do you think, sir? Honest, so help me, that wall was put back into its place, with the joints fitting perfectly in the holes. There was nothing but a crack left in the plaster."—San Francisco Call.

Superstition Among Lion Tamers.

Lion tamers, while not as superstitious as gamblers, have certain prejudices which affect them strongly. For instance, they are much averse to attempting difficult feats on a Friday, and they note the fact that many of the accidents happen on the 13th of the month. Miss Berg was nearly killed in Chicago on the 13th of July. William Hagenbeck has a superstition peculiar to himself, which is that Monday is an unlucky day for him, and he will take no risks with any wild animals on that day. Another notion frequently entertained by tamers is that it bodes them ill to go back to their dressing rooms for any article that may have been forgotten. They will do their act without a whip or a pair of gloves rather than return for them. —McClure's Magazine.

A Disputed Case.
Many persons dispute the question as to whether or not baldness caused either by disease or neglect can be cured. In deciding the question allow us to say that most cases can be cured, while others cannot. Only a specialist of experience can tell this. After a thorough examination, which costs you nothing, we will tell you whether or not you may procure that trait of personal adornment so necessary to your existence, and if we find that the follicles are not all dead, we will treat you and guarantee the results or ask no pay. THE WOMAN BICYCLIST.

She Now Attracts Little Attention if Becoming Garbed.

The woman bicyclist is now so ordinary a feature of both town and country roadways that she attracts little or no attention unless she is dressed in so striking and unusual a garb as in itself renders her conspicuous. Yet but a very few years ago, when the woman's wheel was first brought out, what a universal outcry there was against it as unwomanly and immodest! Now it has become an institution, and the exercise is considered no more unfeminine than horseback riding.

The general public is utterly unable to argue from analogy or learn from experience, however open to conviction the individuals composing that public may be. Otherwise we might say that the present agitation and alarm in regard to woman's entrance into politics are quite as futile and unnecessary as the former crusade against her adoption of the bicycle. When the new order of things is established, none of the awful consequences so long prognosticated will be seen to follow. A woman will still be a woman, will love her husband and children as much as ever and do her duty by them quite as faithfully. Political power is great, but nature is infinitely greater.

Women 50 years hence will look on us as we look on the women of Miss Burney's day, who were called and even called themselves 'females' and swooned regularly several times a day. The most conservative among women of the present would have been regarded then as a phenomenon of rank radicalism and a fit candidate for a straitjacket, into which attire she would no doubt have been speedily placed in order to keep the country from going to the dogs. It seems to be impossible for the human race to admit the fact that it is still progressing.

A sketch is given of a bicycle costume of cloth, consisting of a coat, plaited skirt and trousers fastening below the knee. A pique vest is worn under the coat, with tie and collar.

TERRIBLE WEIGHT.

THAT BEARING DOWN FEELING.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.)

The recovery of Lucretia Osborne Putnam of Forristadale, Mass., was really wonderful. She had been sick for years.

LUCRETIA O. PUTNAM.

She was utterly prostrated, and seemed beyond a hope of cure.

Her spine, heart, liver, and brain were all seriously affected.

The weight of her body upon her feet would cause dizziness, faintness, and terrible pains in her back, and it was sometimes several hours before she could dress.

This woman's trouble was in her womb, effecting her whole constitution.

She was crushed with that indescribable feeling of bearing down, and suffered agonies that would appal a man.

She found new life in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

She says: "I am like one raised from the dead. I was sick so long I thought I never could get well."

"The suffocating, gasping attacks and awful bearing down feeling left me, my appetite returned, and my friends wondered at my improved looks. I believe Mrs. Pinkham's remedies are a sure cure for the misery of our sex."

THE MASHER'S MISTAKE.

A Thick Veil Deluded Him and Spoiled a Suggestion of Supper.

An elderly lady who keeps a fashionable New York school, and who lays no claim to good looks, tells the following as a joke on herself:

"The other night I left the home of a friend half a mile above my house. It was pouring with rain. I had on a heavy mackintosh and a thick veil, but no umbrella. I started to walk home, when a swell-looking young man approached, raised his hat with a mashing smile, and asked me to come under his umbrella. I took his arm with a smile and walked with him to my door. He said sweet things all the way. When I reached my door I thanked him for his sheltering escort. He suggested a little supper. I said:

"Young man, whom do you take me for?" at the same time raising my veil and looking at him in the full glare of the electric light. He jumped half way across the street and cried: "The devil!"

Impossible Under the Circumstances.

A gentleman, accompanied by a lady wearing a handsome dress and bonnet, came out of the Albert Hall one night to find it raining, while they were without umbrella or waterproof clothing. "Why, Charles!" the lady cried, "it's raining." "So I see," said Charles, calmly. "Well, what shall we do?" "I rather think we shall have to let it rain," replied the matter-of-fact husband. Excited by the disaster awaiting her garments, the lady amused the bystanders greatly by saying: "Why, Charles, how can we, when I have on this light dress and bonnet?"

Gounod's Lesson in Modesty.

Gounod, the great musician who died a few months ago, was once waited upon by a young poet anxious for guidance in some work on which he was engaged at the time. Advice was generously given, and then, struck perhaps by his friend's demeanor, Gounod, told him that as he grew in his art he could judge of the masters of the past as he (Gounod) now judged of the famous composers of former days. "At your age," Gounod proceeded, "I used to say 'I'; at 25 I said 'I and Mozart'; at 40 'Mozart and I'; Now I say 'Mozart.'"

A Beautiful Bridge.

One of the finest bridges in Europe is now being constructed across the Danube at Cernavoda, Roumania, by French engineers. It has a length of 2400 feet, divided into five bays. Its height is 103 feet to the roadway, and its highest point is 123 feet above high water. It is of steel, and is supported on thirty piers. The effect is said to be "one of elegance and lightness, the lines standing out like delicate lacework against the sky."
